

Chemical
Computer - hiyah,
happy is smooth..

I feel happy
when people die -
usually the day after actually..

Have you had the feeling too-eva? It's embarrassing & awkward..

If the answer to this question is yes, then you may be wondering what causes this peculiar sense of happiness.

Many people experience happiness and a sense of lightness upon the death of another. You may feel embarrassment, shame and awkwardness around this issue.

What causes the happy feeling?

(A) Your brain and body get flooded with endorphins and adrenaline because you are in shock.

(B) One less person to worry about something awful happening to them.

(C) The dead person has been released from pain and suffering and starvation and despair — "Whew!!"

(D) You get to be alive today but the dead person does not. You won a day in the ultimate competition — not the only competition.

(E) You know why.
You know why.
You knew why.
You — know — why.